The banks now hold $17,594,400 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent. rule. The New York Financier said, Saturday: "The statement of the associated banks of the city of New York for the week ending | Nov. 2 shows an increase in the reserve of $304,700, and reflects in a measure the cesation of the movement of money, or at been going on uninterruptedly for so many weeks. The amount of funds shipped to the interior has been decreasing rapidly since the first week of October, and for the week just ended the receipts of currency at New York exceeded the outgo. The banks gained $707,000 In cash during the week, the un-leaving the total $529,862,400." Exports of specie from the port of New York for the week amounted to $129,355 in gold and $877,900 in silver. The imports were: Gold, $8,845; silver, $47,100; dry goods, usually heavy increase of $1,067,100 in specie being offset by a loss of $350,100 in legal tenders. The contraction in loans continues, the decrease for the week being $1,-

501,000. The deposit item decreased $790,800,

$2.406,527; general merchandise, $8,396,271. Total sales of stocks were 110,404 shares, including the following: American Sugar, 29,900; American Tobacco, 6,600; Atchison, 11,300; Burlington, 6,600; Chicago Gas, 3,400; Louisville & Nashville, 3,100; Missouri Pacific, 5,300; Rock Island, 3,600; St. Paul, 9,700; Tennessee Coal and 1ron, 2,900.

The stock market Saturday opened quiet and depressed. An effective attack was soon made by the bears, with the result of causing a general decline in prices. The reaction continued in force until near the end of the last hour, when on the covering of shorts a fractional rally occurred, which imparted a firmer tone to the closing. The powerful influence of foreign interests in the stock markets of the United States has been forcibly illustrated by the events of the past week. Diplomatic difficulties be-tween the great powers of Europe brought about a mild but ineffective war scare. Therefore, English consols and French rentes, the unfailing barometers of the European financial situation, dropped no price. In London the south African mining stocks tumbled; in Paris there was a drop in the same securities and in Turkish and Spanish bonds; in Berlin, a contraction in the value of bank shares; in Boston a reaction in copper stocks was noted; in Philadelphia, a slump in Electric shares, and in New York there was a sharp readjustment in the valuation of nondividend paying railway and other securities. In a word, the declining tendency of the week received its impulse from abroad, and its accelerated force from the activity of the short interest and idation as margins became exhausted. The condition of business throughout the Inited States was excepent. Railway earnings and bank clearances show increases, the movement of spring wheat at the head of the lakes is unprecedented in volume, as is the output of pig iron, the fear that the winter wheat crop would be a failure is dissipated by heavy rains from Texas to New England. Cotton is slowly rallying from the great break of a fortnight ago and the declining receipts at the interior points appear to confirm the low crop estimates. Foreign exchanges remain firm, being kept below the gold export point by supply of bills, which seems to be forthcoming just when necessary, and not before. Our exports other than cotton continue favorable, while imports are still large. Silver bullion has been steady and it will be interesting to note what amount, if any, Japan will invest in the white metal of the $40,000,000 that has just been received on account of the Chinese ngs and bank clearances show increases ust been received on account of the Chinese indemnity. The volume of business in stocks for the week has been greater than for some time past, but the details of the movements in individual securities reflects little or nothing of importance as a rule. The dividending of importance as a rule. The dividendpaying stocks have been noticeably firm and the weight of the reaction has fallen, in most cases, on the nondividend payers. In the railroads, Reading declined 5% in anticipation of a heavy assessment and closed with a net loss of 4% per cent. The other anthracite coalers also declined sharply in sympathy and also on liquidation. Other noteworthy declines were in Burlington, Louisville & Nashville, Missouri Pacific and Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred. The breaking off of the negotiations between the Panama railroad and the Pacific Mail Company had a depressing effect on the price of the stock depressing effect on the price of the stock of the last-named concern. In the Industrials, General Electric declined 614 to 2014 per cent., with a final rally of 2 per cent. officials of the company say that business s good and profess to know of no legiti mate reason for the drop. Tobacco receded industry, but subsequently rallied 11/2 per cent. on covering of shorts. Sugar lost 3 per cent. on reports of lower prices for foreign and domestic product. The usual inferences relative to the assembly of Congress were made as likely to unfavorably affect the company. Changes not elsewhere mentioned were declines in Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis preferred, 412 per cent.; Wells-Fargo Express, 5; Mo-bile & Ohio, 34, and Louisville & Nashville, Heavy sales of Atchison bonds were made Saturday, and were attributed to foreign account. Sharp declines ensued and the other classes of speculative bonds sympathized, although the losses were less important. In some instances gains were noted—unimportant, expected in Cairo. Arkansas & Texas firsts, 95c; salmons (lbs), $1.10@2; 3-pound tomawhich rose 214 per cent. Lake Erie & West- toes, 70@85c. ern firsts declined 1 fer cent. Sales were $1.-

The bond market for the week was influ-enced by the conditions anecting the operaions in stocks. Reading issues were the features and gave way sharply on an alleged forecast of the terms of the reorganization plan. Subsequently a substantial rally was induced by purchases attributed to large banking interests identified with the rehabilitation of the property. Atchison issues were sharply depressed by liquidation, The important changes are: Advances-New ork & Rockaway Beach firsts, 516; Morr's & Essex consols guaranteed, 4; L. & N., and E. H. & N. firsts 2 per cent. De lines-Read-ing firsts, 5%; Reading seconds, 3%; Readng thirds, 312. The aggregate sales were

Government bonds were dull and lower on transactions of $62,000. State securities were quiet and devoid of features with sales of $35,000 Virginia deferred sixes; $10,000 deerred centuries; $3,000 Louislana consols fours and $1,000 North Carolina sixes. MINING SHARES. Doubleday, Rope & Co., of Colorado Springs, Col., give the following quotations: Anaconda ...... 56 Argentum 261/4

Mount Rosa ...... Il Panic on Foreign Exchanges.

LONDON, Nov. 3 .- The disquieting political rumors during the past week, which, under normal conditions, would have been speedily dissipated, have under the scare produced by the mining collapse induced a semi-panic in every direction, besides revealing unexpected weakness in Paris and sation of the movement of money, or at | Constantinople, where there has evidently least a counterbalancing of it, which has | been extensive wild speculation in mining shares. All the markets here have suffered nore or less, the worst being mines, foreigners and Americans. After Friday's holiday the stock market reopened yester-day with a better tone and with an appreciable advance in prices, which would have been greater but for the moraltum declared at Constantinople. The American market, under the influence of the Reading reorganization, continues in a depressed condition. The week's decreases were as follows:

Atchison, Louisville & Nashville and Reading, 2¼; Erie, Northern Pacific and Wabash sixes, 1½; St. Paul, Denver & Rio Grande, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific and Wabash preferred, 14; Central Pacific and Lake Shore, 1; Canadian Pacific, 14; Grand Trunk guaranteed, 14; Grand Trunk

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE. Trade Slower-Prices Firm, Except in

Produce. In all lines, except fruits and vegetables, firm, strong prices predominate. Sugar is perhaps the only exception. Iron, hardware, provisions, eggs and poultry and flour are in better shape. Eighty per cent. of the hay now used at Indianapolis is shipped in here, ten carloads of prairie being used where one was last year. The seed market is quiet at unchanged prices. The hide market is a little more active, but prices have not advanced materially. Druggists have had one of the best fall trades in years. Wholesale merchants on Meridian and Pennsylvania streets are expecting a good November business, as few retail merchants who draw their supplies from this center have large stocks, having of late purchased only to meet immediate requirements.

In the local grain market, more business was done in the week closing Saturday than either of the last three preceding weeks. Receipts of wheat are light, but of corn and oats arrivals have been larger the last few days, farmers wishing to get rid of their old supply to make room for the new crop. CHICAGO WHEAT A DRAG, WITH HEAVY NORTHWEST RECEIPTS.

Quiet and Weakness Ruled in All the Other Markets-Provisions Were a Trifle Firm with Pork.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.-The enormous deliveries of wheat in the Northwest again acted as a drag anchor to that market to-day and as a reflection of this condition of affairs the market ruled dull and weak throughout the session, fluctuating within very narrow limits. The only matter of news out of the regular routine was Attorney-general Moloney's application for an injunction to restrain the licensed elevator men from doing something or other. The precise scope of the desired restraining order was not generally understood, and, therefore, although it might turn out to be of material consequence, the trade inclined to wait further light before permitting it to influence trading. It was, however, generally understood that the court would not take any action which would be retrospective or interfere with transactions or contracts already entered into. The fact that there has been no rain yet of consequence in the winter wheat belt was lost sight of in view of the big Northwestern deliveries and the bearish sentiment got the ascendency and kept it. December sold early at 50%c, but gradually sold off to 58%c, closing at 58%c. May sold from 631/2e to 63c, closing at 631/3c.

Corn was quiet and weak, the near-by futures showing the most decline. November sold off nearly %c from the opening, but the May weakened less than %c. The re-ceipts of new corn continue liberal, as the weather in the interior is still favorable and farmers seem disposed to take advantage of it to rush their grain in. There was little demand and holders sold freely. November sold early at 291/6/291/4 split, but fell to 281/4c. May sold from 291/6/291/4c split, to 29c. At the close November was 283/4c and May 291/4c. Oats were quiet and inclined to weakness, but the control of the server of the s but there was not much actual decline. May sold at 20% to 20% at the close. Hog products were firmer. January pork sold at $9.10@9.12½ split, to $9.22½, closing at $9.17½. January lard sold at 5.67½@6.70c and ribs at 4.60@4.65c. Estimated receipts for Monday-Wheat, 550 cars; corn, 450 cars; oats, 290 cars; hogs, 43,-

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.-Cattle-The . week closes at a low average of prices, with native beeves selling mostly at $3.60@4.75, and prime to extra grades largely nominal at $1.80@5.25, while very common cattle sell around $3.10@3.25. Sellers have experienced a bad market this week, the demand from shippers and exporters having been very light on account of dullness in East and foreign markets. Canning stuff has sold particularly badly and old cows sold at the lowest prices of the year. The stocker and feeder trade continues active, and shipments of such stock from bore less month were of such stock from here last month were the largest on record. Fully 34,000 feeding cattle were shipped out over Western rail-roads alone, against 30,000 in September, and in addition 50,000 were shipped to East-

For hogs to-day there was a good demand generally, and most of the offerings were disposed of, prices being largely 5c lower. Sales were principally at $3.65@3.75, choice heavy prime butcher weights and choice assorted selling close together. Packers have been operating freely this week but shippers have not been taking their usual numbers. Stocks of meat are on the increase, and this tends to keep hogs cheap. Good hogs weighing from 220 to 300 lbs sell the best. The best hogs sell at $3.75, against $4.75 a year ago, $6.52\\(^1_2\) two years ago, $5.75 three years ago, and $4.30 four years ago.

The few sheep offered to-day were soon disposed of, prices ruling largely nominal at $1@3.60 for natives, $1.75@3.10 for Westerns and $3@4.40 for lambs. Out of 93,366 sheep shipped here in October, 65,000 were taken by feeders and most of the remainder were exported to Europe. Feeders took more than ever before in a single month, and 15,000 sheep went to Ohio and Indiana

GOWNS RICH AND RAKE. Elaborate Preparations of Fashion for the Winter Senson.

New York Sun. The season when opera and afternoon teas, dinner parties and social functions of varying degrees of importance become the absorbing theme of life will soon be with us again, and meanwhile the numerous elegancies of dress which will be in demand later are perplexing the feminine mind. The question as to what particular styles will prevail is not easily answered until the new modes appear on dress parade for public approval; but if elaborate preparations are any indication of things in prospect, this season will surpass all others in the richness of its materials and lavish extravagance in all the minor accessories of dress. Embroideries such as were a feature of fashion in the time of Marie Antoinette, wrought out by hand in exquisite harmony of color on a white satin ground, are one of the distinguishing characteristics of the latest imported gowns. Small pieces of this embroidery are used for vests and coliar bands, narrow vokes and wide-draped revers, with such good effect that very little trimming of any other sort is needed. Be-equally artistic colors, which are much less expensive. Fine beads and guttering sequins added to these make them very showy and a very good substitute for the fine needlework.

Real laces of various kinds add elegance, as well as expense to many of the handsome gowns, and the woman who possesses fine old lace can find no end of use for it this season. Short lengths make pretty hat trimmings and evening dresses can absorb almost any amount. Venetian rose point, Brusels point de gaze, Italian point. Renaissance lace and guipure are much used for dress trimmings, but for those who cannot afford the genuine article there are lovely compensations among the imitation laces, which are more attractive than ever. Wide collars of Renaissance and the heavier laces are elaborately jetted and traced with gold thread to make them more showy, and lace treated in this way covers revers, collar bands and vests with great effect. Very pretty waists for evening gowns, of striped, flowered or plain satin, either high or low neck, are made of fine lace traced with gold thread, arranged over chiffons 2.00@2.50 and a white silk lining. The sleeves should 1.00@1.75 be of silk like the skirt or of plain white sides these embroideries, which are invariably worked by hand in the form required, there is a great variety in bands of machine embroidery in open designs and pecially pretty for a black and white striped Full waists of plain chiffon are used for evening, and are made quite up to date by a rich belt of colored mirior velvet; so it is possible to freshen up a last year's evening gown in a very acceptable manner, despite the fact that the latest models have waists and skirts alike. Sleeves are sometimes of a contrasting material, and a very charming illustration of this is a gown of purple pink satin, with black mousseline-de-sole sleeves and neck trimming. The sleeves are very short, arranged in a series of deep puffs un and down, with bands of beaded trimming between, and the frill around the neck is very full, and caught at one side with a large velvet crchid.

Sleeves of evening gowns, with very few exceptions, are perceptibly shorter than they were last season and stand out in full round puffs or short double frills. The latest sleeve for day gowns is decidedly the Marie Antoinette style fitted closely above the elbow with a short draped puff at the top, which varies a little in length and fullness according to the material. So it is safe to prophesy smaller sleeves in the near future. Of course, large full puffs are still worn, but they have lost their stiffening, and many of them are arranged plain at the armhole on top to give length to the shoulder, and the fullness is plaited in at the side and under the arm. These sleeves are very long and shaped in a long point, which falls over the hand and is often made dressy by a frill of lace.

Skirts show some variety in the cut, and Pacquin, who is the leader in this branch of the dressmaker's art, shows a new model which exceeds all others in point of fullness. It is plaited across the back and on the hips, falling in soft folds instead of the stiff godets, which are, apparently, quite out of fashion. Another skirt which is shown as a new model is very full, cut circular at the side, and gauged instead of plaited at the waist across the back. The front has a plait on either side, which follows the seam to the bottom and has the appearance of a wide box plait. The most successful skirts are lined with silk, not so much for the luxury of a silk lining as for necessity, because the little stiffness silk can give is needed, now that haircloth has been discarded, except for a very narrow facing. Skirts of evening dresses are made quite plain or trimmed, if at all, down either side of the front breadth, which is sometimes made of a contrasting color and material. The most fascinating gowns for evening and for bridesmaids at a full-dress wed-ding are made of flowered satins with a Louis XVI coat, or a long pointed waist, with full paniers on the skirt and close sleeves with a full short puff at the top. China silks, which are not so expensive, are very popular for evening gowns, and make very good copies of the old-time dresses. A waist which can be worn with a last season's skirt, especially if it is white, is made of white China silk scattered over with a chintz pattern and trimmed with fine, creamy lace. Another combination for extending the usefulness of an old skirt is a bodice of white mousseline de soie striped with narrow black lace insertion. Black velvet jet applique forms a band around the decollete neck, and turquoise blue satin sleeves give the touch The first gown shown is a good illustration of the elegance displayed among the imported evening costumes. It is made of heavy pearl-colored satin, with bright-colored bouquets of chine flowers scattered Long-Distance releptione, 168. the bodice is cut in the Louis XVI fashion. with coat sides, opening over a Dresden china green velvet vest. Diamond buckles fasten the velvet where it is caught up at the neck. The sleeves are of green velat the neck. The sleeves are of green velvet and the wide collar is of silk, edged with handsome lace. Quite in contrast is the simple gown of plain white satin lined with pink silk, which has a full bodice of white chiffon over a tight-fitting lining of white silk. Pink ribbon embroidered with silver sequins frames the low source neck and hangs in looped low, square neck, and hangs in looped bretelles from either shoulder. Long fringed ends from the right side pass under the draped silk sash and fall on the skirt, and pointed epaulets of lace lined with pink and embroidered with silver sequins partially cover the sleeves. The third gown, which has more of the old-time charm about it, shows a tablier front of rose velvet, trimmed across the bottom with lace. The pointed waist and short puffed sleeves are of velvet decorated with point de Flandres arranged around the shoulders like a fichu, which is looped at the neck in front to form a butterfly effect. The skirt is of rose and yellow chine flow-ered silk. Another dress of pale blue chine silk represents a very different style. The skirt is cut so full that it falls in plaits at the side as well as the back, and the full bodice of pale blue chiffon has an empire belt of green velvet decorated with miniature buttons. The sleeves are simply a double frill of the shik, like the skirt, over which falls the drapery of Brussels lace, which extends all around the neck. The last gown, of yellow duchesse satin, is trimmed on either side of the skirt with an applique of real lace, with raised flowers and tiny brilliants for the center and a large bow of pale green velvet ribbon at the foot. The odd-shaped revers is of green velvet, covered with an applique of lace. The bodice of pale yellow chiffon is very nearly covered by the wide draped belt of yellow satin, and green velvet bows adorn one side of the neck.

A pretty coat bodice for theater and demi-dress occasions is the waist of a black and white striped silk gown. It is made of black satinfinished velvet, covered with lovely old-fashioned embroiders. The vest is of creamy lace over white satin, with a frill of edging down either side, and the belt is of pale blue. The back is plain and closely fitted without seams, and finished with a narrow plaited basque.

The combination of novelty silks and velvets with dark wool gowns is very effective, and is used for the entire bodice, or a part, combined with the wool. An example of this is shown in the bodice of a dark brown cloth gown where the lower part of the waist, from a narrow yoke, is of the flowered silk, except a narrow band of cloth down the middle of the back and on either side of the front, which is of white cloth, showing only the width of a wide seam from the neck to the belt. The silk is edged all around with Persian lamb, litttle points of white cloth fall over the dark collar, and a tiny roll of fur finishes the bottom of the waist. A black satin bodice for a black crepon dress shows a wide collar of black net embroidered in sequins and bordered by a frill of plaited chiffon. Another and very simple waist for a checked, tweed morning dress is of olive green cloth, with a deep yoke and sleeves of shot purple and green silk.

Brown fur trims the neck, sleeves, and edge of the basque. The only feature of the last bodice is the wide collar of heavy gream lace embroidered elaborately with
